- dropped, injured by a person, injured by a pet, or improper care
- were to contract illness from another animal
- not housed or fed in accordance with RRC care sheets

Quarantine

During this first three months, the animal should be isolated from any other pets and monitored for health, eating, and activity level. RRC is not responsible for any injury or illness to other pets caused by exposure to this animal.

Shipping

A guarantee of a live and healthy shipped animal requires that there is someone home to receive the package on arrival. In the case of DOA's (Dead on Arrival). RRC will require confirmation of the delivery to a person and require proof of DOA, such as pictures of animal and shipping container and/or the return of the body and container. Replacement, credit or a refund will be given at RRC's discretion.

Laws & regulations

It is your responsibility to know and be in compliance with your local, provincial, and federal laws regarding this species. By purchasing this animal, you agree to these terms and will not hold RRC liable for any reason.

Reactions to bites

Western Hognoses are considered harmless to humans. Although uncommon, it is possible to have a reaction to their bite. No deaths have ever occurred from a Western Hognose bite. Symptoms can include, itching, swelling, nausea, and irritation. Those with allergies or sensitivities may be at higher risk for having a reaction. The chance of having reaction increases if you allow the snake to continue biting. Do not try to "test" your sensitivity to a bite. Most bites are accidental and occur during feeding. Feeding tongs are advised. Please keep all this information in mind and practice safe, responsible, feeding and handling techniques.

For both the safety of the animal and a child, never leave any animal unattended with children.
